

LOVE BOOKS? LOVE PEOPLE?

BE PART OF A BIGGER STORY WITH THE READER

Shared Reading brings books, poems and plays to life through reading aloud and group discussion.

The Reader is looking for new people in West London to train to lead Shared Reading groups locally.

This project is working with the libraries, GPs and community centres across the West London area.

Volunteers receive a transformative training course, plus an ongoing support package.

If you would like to register your interest in training to become a Reader Leader, find out how to join a group, or become involved as a partner in this community collaboration, please get in touch:
