Good communication with patients and between healthcare professionals is essential to safe and effective care.

You can improve it
by ...

GPs, hospital doctors and nurses, community and social care professionals all need the most up-to-date information about a patient's care?

Here's how to make that happen ...

A patient is often the expert in their own condition.
How do we put patients and carers in control?

What you need to do is ...
